No Desire in Berlin and Vienna to see Negotiations Succeed—Count Schouvaloff's Mission—Unsettled War Preparations.

LONDON, May 6.—The Daily News St. Petersburg correspondent, referring to Count Schouvaloff's mission, says: "The Russians earnestly desire an understanding with England; they believe it would be better for Russian interests than an agreement with Austria, and wish to unite with England for the benefit of the Christians, and to secure peace. The only fear is that England may make proposals humiliating to Russia. It is generally believed that in Vienna and Berlin very little desire is felt to see negotiations between Russia and England succeed."

The Daily Telegraph has the following from its Vienna correspondent: "Count Schouvaloff takes with him what may be considered as England's irreducible minimum. Schouvaloff, the Russian ambassador at Vienna, will be informed that Austria maintains the objections already made. I hear from high official source that when the English an Austrian reconciliation are accepted, little or nothing of Count Schouvaloff's scheme will remain."

Montenegro and Serbia are giving much offense to Austria. Of Montenegro, a Government organ says: "Austria protests against the extension of the principality to the Adriatic, and under no circumstances permit it."

As a result of the mobilization of the army and militia reserves, thirty-five thousand trained and effective soldiers have taken their places in the ranks. There is little apparent decrease at Woolwich Arsenal in the activity of war preparations.

The Laboratory Department has received an order for thirteen thousand cases to contain, each, forty-eight pounds of powder (crackers), to be carried on pack saddles. One thousand five hundred tons preserved meat has been received from the United States, principally from Chicago.

In well-informed quarters the early dissolution of Parliament is not now anticipated.

A conviction begins to find expression that too sanguine view is taken of Count Schouvaloff's journey to St. Petersburg. It is argued that he cannot have a mission from the British Government, unless the latter has consented to abandon the idea of European concert, and will treat directly with Russia about special British interests, which is entirely unlikely. If the government had formulated counter proposals they would probably have submitted them through the regular channels. It is conjectured therefore that Count Schouvaloff may have had a personal object in wishing to visit St. Petersburg.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 9.—Prince Henry the Seventh, of Reuss, German Ambassador here, received information from the Russian headquarters that the Russians have evacuated Philippopolis, Isaur, Bazardzi, and other localities near the insurgent district, so as to leave full liberty of action to the Porte's commissioners. The idea first entertained at the Russian headquarters that the insurgents are simply brigands, is now abandoned. They have a military organization, and display strategical knowledge.

LONDON, May 9.—Reuters have the following: "Constantinople: The Porte has made the evacuation of Shumla conditional upon the withdrawal of the Russians to Pehatidja. The Russian military authorities are stated to have decided to only withdraw to St. George, eleven miles northwest of St. Stefano. The garrison of Shumla is too weak to defend the place if attacked."

Forty-Fifth Congress.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 9.—The nomination of Packard B. Connel to Liverpool, was reported favorably. There seems no doubt of Sheridan's confirmation as register of deeds of the District.

The Judiciary committee reported regarding the distribution of the Mexican awards.

The clause re-instating Weil and Laabra, a cause for investigation, provoked a debate of matters belonging to the Executive Session, and the doors were closed.

HOUSE.—A joint resolution reported by Goode, of Virginia, from the committee on Education and Labor, for the enforcement of the eight-hour law in all the departments of the government, gave rise to a lively discussion in the course of which, Banks of Massachusetts denounced the disregard of the law by the government as scandalous and infamous, and Butler, of Massachusetts, advocated a penalty for its disregard.

The joint resolution was passed. In compliance with Senator Butler's resolution, a communication was received to-day by the Senate from the Secretary of War, endorsing General Humphreys' (chief of engineers) report, submitting a project of General Gilmore for the permanent improvement of the channel into Charleston Harbor, by means of low jetties, with an estimate of the probable cost; also a report of the board of Engineers approving the project.

General Humphreys says: "I concur in the views of the board that the channel over the harbor can be improved to a probable depth of twenty-one feet mean low water, by the use of jetties submerged in whole or in part, and by a mode of construction very gradual in its progress, which will admit of such modification in the length and height of the jetties as experience will dictate. I further concur in the project adopted, should to the least possible degree, disturb the present regimen of influx and efflux over the bar. The estimated cost will vary according to the extent of the project which may be adopted, from $1,800,000 to $3,000,000. General Gilmore recommends the annual appropriation of $500,000 in four successive years, which General Humphreys approves. General Gilmore's report covers over sixty pages, with plans and drawings of his project. It is an able and interesting document. The report gives a full description of the Charleston bar and various channels, previous surveys, variations, depths, widths and measurements of channels; also the material composing the surface and below it. He says it is a drift and wave bar produced by the action of the waves, and in part by drift material carried along by surf currents, and gives the results of bearings and experiments. The plan is to construct two jetties, one springing from Morris Island, and the other from Sullivan's Island, converging towards each other in such manner that their outer ends on the crest of the bar shall be half a mile apart, the other end of the two jetties lying to the northward and southward of the North Channel, that being the middle channel of the north groups of channels. The north jetty near the shore is curved to a radius of one and a half miles, the outer half nearly a straight line length of this jetty, is 7,450 feet, direction S. E.; the South jetty is 11,650 feet long, the short end is curved to a radius of three miles for about one half its length, the half next to the sea is nearly straight. The object is to maintain the bar in its present general location.

On motion of Senator Butler, the report and accompanying papers, were referred to the Senate committee on Commerce, and ordered to be printed.

President Trumper, of the chamber of Commerce, expresses much satisfaction with the report and progress he is busily engaged with the committees and departments.

HOUSE.—Nothing was done in the House to-day, except a continuance of the tariff bill. Kelly, of Pennsylvania, speaking against the bill, and Harris, of Georgia, and Smith, of Georgia, speaking in support of it.

The committee on Patents decided adversely on the extension of Gilbert Jessup seed drill.

SENATE.—The secret session continued until 2 o'clock.

The Mexican award bill was discussed, amended, and passed.

Mr. Hanson, of North Carolina, presented petitions from the Governor and citizens of North Carolina, for the repeal of the law imposing a tax of ten percent on the circulation of State bank notes. Referred to the committee on Finance.

Mr. Merrimon, of North Carolina, submitted an amendment to the river and harbor appropriation bill, appropriating $25,000 to continue the improvement of the French Broad River in North Carolina. Referred to the committee on Commerce.

In well-informed quarters the early dissolution of Parliament is not now anticipated.

A conviction begins to find expression that too sanguine view is taken of Count Schouvaloff's journey to St. Petersburg. It is argued that he cannot have a mission from the British Government, unless the latter has consented to abandon the idea of European concert, and will treat directly with Russia about special British interests, which is entirely unlikely. OUR SLEEPING HEROES.

Roster of the Confederate Dead in Oakwood Cemetery.

We publish below the list of the Confederate dead interred at the Soldiers' Cemetery, at Oakwood. It seems to be particularly appropriate to thus give the roll of the glorious dead on this day, when we annually assemble to do what slight honor we may in humble remembrance of the valor and recognition of the valor and services of these sleeping heroes. Side by side they here repose in that sleep that "knows not waking," officer and private, youths and gray haired sires, who faithfully fighting fell in the shock of the great combat.

The arrangement of the graves in the eight divisions, as follows: In the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th, lie the North Carolinians, and those whose State is unknown, in the 5th are the Georgians; the 6th is devoted to the Mississippians; the 7th are South Carolinians, and a part of the Unknown Dead; while in the 8th are the dead from Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, and the Unknown Dead. Here also three of the C. S. Navy are buried.

We give the list as nearly correct as possible, of the grave numbers, (which are continuous) the name of the deceased, and his command.

OUR SLEEPING HEROES.

Roster of the Confederate Dead in Oakwood Cemetery.

We publish below the list of the Confederate dead interred at the Soldiers' Cemetery, at Oakwood. It seems to be particularly appropriate to thus give the roll of the glorious dead on this day, when we annually assemble to do what slight honor we may in humble remembrance of the valor and recognition of the valor and services of these sleeping heroes. Side by side they here repose in that sleep that "knows not waking," officer and private, youths and gray haired sires, who faithfully fighting fell in the shock of the great combat.

The arrangement of the graves in the eight divisions, as follows: In the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th, lie the North Carolinians, and those whose State is unknown, in the 5th are the Georgians; the 6th is devoted to the Mississippians; the 7th are South Carolinians, and a part of the Unknown Dead; while in the 8th are the dead from Virginia, Tennessee, Alabama, Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, and the Unknown Dead. Here also three of the C. S. Navy are buried.

We give the list as nearly correct as possible, of the grave numbers, (which are continuous) the name of the deceased, and his command.

A Memorial Psalm.
FOR THE TENTH OF MAY.

I.
Past, the clash and clang of battle.
Past, the terrors, trials, fears;
Past the deadly roar and rattle,
Yet, we meet in tears.
II.
Not a shout of exultation,
Breaks the silence, solemn deep;
On the death-day of a nation,
Is it strange we weep?
III.
But the homage that we render
Softens with a proud relief,
And a joy supremely tender,
Alights with our grief.
IV.
For the heroes' reeds from us,
Have not faded nor died in vain;
And their memory's glow of promise
Shines o'er our ears of pain.
V.
Countless eyes have coned their story
Of the brave hearts grown brave by fire;
We had such to die!
VI.
Where had been the Church's honor,
When the overwhelming flood
Of her foes rushed fierce upon her,
But for martyr blood?
VII.
Where the lofty acclamations
Of the wreath of thirland's chain;
Where the grandeur of the nation,
For patriots slain?
VIII.
Shall we, then, in sad procession,
Quests low down on the breast—
Only bring our tears to freshen
Graves where heroes rest?
IX.
Let us rather, as the laurel
Now we lay above the sod,
Let their lives majestic mural
Wait, and trust in God!
—MARGARET J. FOSTER.

STATE NEWS.

Several serious cutting scrapes have occurred in Wilmington within the last two or three days.

Tarboro Southern: We understand that Major Rogers, Vice-President, and Capt. J. M. McCorkle, Engineer of the W. & T. R. R., are now in Martin county for the purpose of making a survey, in conjunction with Mr. Fisher, manager of the W. & J. R. R., of the road from Dymond City to Robersonville.

Bakersville Republican: Dudley Ollis and Paulmore Jones were arrested and lodged in jail by the sheriff of this county, on a capias from Caldwell county, charged with the murder of Barner a year ago. These men with others composed a party of Revenue officers, and when the killing was done were endeavoring to arrest the Barner for illicit distilling.

Charlotte Observer: Monday morning Mr. J. C. Cook, a well-known citizen of Concord, a magistrate and a lawyer, was stricken with paralysis, and the physicians say his recovery is doubtful. The last of the machinery of the mammoth compass which is to be located at the cotton platform, has arrived, and about twenty-five laborers are engaged in the work of erecting it.

New Bern Not Still: Miss Mary A. Smith, a domestic in the family of the keeper of Hatteras Inlet Light House, met her death on the 27th ult. She was engaged in her daily routine of house cleaning, and while putting out her beds to air over the railing, she dropped a pillow, and in her attempt to regain it fell through the trap door in the promenade deck, breaking her neck.

Charlotte Observer: The convention of the Democrats of Gaston county, held at Dallas, Tuesday, declared for Hon. W. H. Smith for chief justice, and Hon. T. S. Ashe and Judge David Schenck for associate justices. Judge Shipp was also proposed for associate justice. The convention also unanimously declared for Capt. C. E. Grier for solicitor of this judicial district.

Murfreesboro Enquirer: There probably never was a better fishing season than the past has been; and taking all things into consideration, it is quite a good send to our people. The prices have been unusually low, and everybody seems to have been supplied. Our fishermen have nearly all caught all they wanted, or all they could save, and have taken out their seines. It is something unusual for fishermen to take out their seines some ten or fifteen days before the usual time, and when they were catching 100,000 at their last hauls.

The Common Enemy.
In order to make his way against the common enemy, Disease, it is necessary to oppose him with persistence. It is very frequently supposed that a remedy perfectly adequate does not exist, and that a remedy is not possible, and is thrown aside because a remedy is not possible. How reasonable and unjust would it be to judge, because one of the most popular and highly sanctioned remedies of the day, a potent and an invariably successful remedy for constipation, dyspepsia, liver complaint, indigestion, and gout, and all the ailments incident to the decline of life. No it is better established than the above, yet it is not known. It is a remedy that will cure you, free of charge, of all the ailments incident to the decline of life. It is a remedy that will cure you, free of charge, of all the ailments incident to the decline of life. It is a remedy that will cure you, free of charge, of all the ailments incident to the decline of life.

Wallack's Orchestra.
The orchestra of Wallack's Theatre, New York, is famous for its extraordinary precision. This is due entirely to Thomas Baker, an Englishman, who is a conductor of the orchestra. Mr. Baker used to suffer terribly from rheumatism, but now is as supple and agile as a schoolboy. He uses his freedom, as he ought, to give his orchestra the best of his own health.

Mothers, Mothers, Mothers.
Don't fail to procure Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for all diseases of teething in children. It relieves the child from pain, cures wind colic, regulates the bowels, and, by giving relief and health to the child, gives rest to the mother.

A CARD.
To all who are suffering from rheumatism and other ailments of youth, nervous weakness, and all the ailments incident to the decline of life, I will send a remedy that will cure you, free of charge. This great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the Rev. Joseph T. Evans, Station D, Bible House, New York City.

The Commissioner of Agriculture having decided that I cannot have an Agency in advancing the price, I solicit your orders

I respectfully refer you to Messrs. J. J.

and promoting abundant growth. N. W. BENNETT.

(From Rev. Mr. Cameron, Minister of the Presbyterian Church South.)
Most CURE, Tenn., August 22 1878.
Xanthine Co., Richmond, Va.:
I have used the Xanthine now for three years, and have induced others to try it, and have never known it to fail in accomplishing its claim for it. It is an excellent fertilizer for the hair, removing and preventing dandruff and all unpleasant itching, promoting the growth of the hair, and preserving the color of the hair, and rendering it glossy and pliable. I confidently, cheerfully and knowingly recommend it.
